READING SECTION:

Glass Beach

Before garbage trucks, people left trash anywhere. Broken dishes, old bottles, and even cars! Trash made one beach in California a mess. However, 50 years ago, things started to change. People learned garbage was bad for oceans. After that, they removed big items. But they left lots of sharp glass on the beach. Over time, sand and waves changed the glass. They rubbed against it and made it smooth. It became sea glass. Sea glass sparkles in the sun like jewels. Now, many people visit the beach. They take sea glass home. All that beautiful glass is disappearing. Some say it isn't wrong to take pieces. The glass used to be trash! Others don't agree. What do you think?
