READING SECTION:

The Genius Driver

Albert Einstein was a genius scientist. In 1921, he won the Nobel Prize in Physics. But do you know that his driver was smart too? One day, Einstein was on his way to a university. He didn't want to give his lecture that day because he was too tired. His driver Hans said, "I'll give the lecture for you. I've listened to it many times." Nobody at the university knew Einstein's face. So, they switched places.

Hans spoke and Einstein sat in the audience. After Hans finished, a man asked a question. Hans said politely, "That's not a difficult question, sir. Even my driver knows the answer. Hans, stand up and...." Einstein stood up and answered the question! Later in the car, Einstein offered to drive. Hans was confused. Einstein laughed and said to him, "It's a pleasure to drive a genius like you."
