READING SECTION:

Feeling Lucky!

Jake doesn't believe in superstitions. One day, his sister broke a mirror. She said, "Oh, no! Seven years of bad luck." "Don't worry," said Jake. "Luck doesn't exist. I'll show you." Jake spilled some salt. Then, he put a mirror across his bed. He even put dead flowers on his desk. "Something bad will happen to you," his sister said. But nothing happened. That evening, Jake played cards with his family. He won. He played another game. He won that one too. Jake told his sister, "See? I was right. I can break superstitions. And this brings me luck! I'll break superstitions every day. Then I'll be luckier!" "But Jake," said his sister, "that's a kind of superstition, too!"
